

Netflix Sucks
by Gord Sellar

I don't like Netflix anymore. There are several reasons for this. The first reason is selection. Netflix used to have many movies. Now it mostly has only Netflix originals. Netflix originals are not very good. There is a lot of cheap reality TV. Many Netflix dramas get canceled after one season. I can't get into new shows. I worry that they will get canceled. The next reason Netflix sucks is because of binge-watching. Of course it's my choice to binge-watch a show. Netflix is built to encourage people to watch many episodes at one time. Even the structure of Netflix shows do this. Many shows are boring for 30-40 minutes. They end with a cliffhanger. This makes you watch the next episode right away. Finally, streaming platforms like Netflix are exploitative. I think about this when I watch shows. Actors are paid less. They also don't get residuals for their work. Of course famous actors still get paid well up-front. The less-famous actors are paid much less than before. The same is true for all the other people involved in making shows. This has made the TV industry much harder to survive in. Many creative people are suffering. Netflix is more profitable. For all these reasons, I don't like Netflix anymore.

Netflix Sucks
by Gord Sellar

There are several reasons why I don't like Netflix anymore. The first reason is selection. Netflix used to have many movies, but now it mostly has only originals, which are not very good. There is a lot of cheap reality TV. Many Netflix dramas also get canceled after one season. I worry that they will get canceled, so I can't get into new shows. The next reason Netflix sucks is because of binge-watching. Of course it's my choice to binge-watch a show, but Netflix is built to encourage people to watch many episodes at one time. Even the structure of Netflix shows do this. Many shows are boring for 30-40 minutes, but they end with a cliffhanger. This makes you watch the next episode right away. Finally, streaming platforms like Netflix are exploitative. I think about this when I watch shows. Actors are paid less, and they also don't get residuals for their work. While of course famous actors still get paid well up-front, the less-famous actors are paid much less than before. The same is true for all the other people involved in making shows. This has made the TV industry much harder to survive in. Although Netflix is more profitable, many creative people are suffering. For all these reasons, I don't like Netflix anymore.