Questions for Discussion:

1. This episode of Worn Stories is about “loss.” What are the different meanings given to the word “loss” in this episode? What did the saxophonist (Tim Cappello) lose? What did the Shoham lose? How about Maxayn? And how about Ross?
2. Which of these stories was the most interesting to you, and why? Which was the most surprising?
3. What do you think about Tim Cappello’s comment when he says the following:
The truth is that loss is just another name for change, but if you keep your heart open, you will find something on the other side.
... and has this been your experience of loss? Why do you or do you not agree with this idea?
4. Is there a piece of clothing you’ve lost that was meaningful to you? If not a piece of clothing, how about a personal item of some kind? Please share the story of that loss with the group, and how you got over it or what kind of change it created for you in your life.
5. What kind of theme (like “Loss”) would you choose if you were hired to plan an episode of Worn Stories?
